Sale and capital raise process moves forward to next phase

The Co-operative Bank p.l.c. (the "Bank") announced on 13 February 2017 that it was commencing a sale process alongside considering other options to build capital to meet the longer term capital requirements applicable to all UK banks. The Bank provided an update on progress on 24 March.

The Bank has received a number of non-binding proposals from strategic and financial parties. The Board has selected several parties to enter a further phase during which these parties will be provided with additional information. Each of the preliminary offers selected includes some form of liability management exercise.

In parallel, the Bank continues to have discussions with existing and other potential new investors on options to build capital.

The Bank continues to fully discuss both the sale process and the capital raise options with the Prudential Regulation Authority (PRA), which has welcomed the actions being taken.

There can be no certainty that any offer will be made for the Bank or as to the level of any proposal or offer that may be made nor that the Bank will pursue, or successfully implement, an equity raise and/or a liability management exercise of its outstanding public debt.
